THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient dis-infectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the polson of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow composed of the thermiess antisep-tics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey. The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better com-plexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

For Family Colds

A reliable Cough and Cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear. It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too.

COACH KRAENZLEIN OUT.

New Athletic Policy at University of Wisconsin Goes Through.

Wisconsin Goes Through.

MADISON, Wis. Feb. 14.—The first manifestation of the University of Wisconsin's new athletic policy showed itself last night when Alvin C. Kraenziein, coach of the track team, resigned. Coach Kraenziein's resignation has been formally accepted by the athletic board of the university.

The reason assigned for the coach's resignation is that he has received an offer of a favorable business opportunity in the East, which it would be impossible for him to accept at a later date. The athletic association of the university holds a contract with Kraenziein running until June, but in view of the unsettled condition of athletics at the college the executive committee of the athletic Wicelita Kan, Feb. 14—Col. H. G. Toler, in his day one of the best-known turfmen in the West, died at St. Francis hospital this morning, at the age of 60 years. Col. Toler came here before the boom, a wealthy man. He died poor. At one time he owned the finest stock farm in the West. It was located where the present town of Toleville stands. There he raised many fast horses, chief among which were John R. Gentry. Theodore Shellon, Saille Toler, Ashen Wilkes and Marquis. Ite was forced to sell all in the crash that followed the boom.

Salt Lake City, Iliah, Feb. 13, 1806.

Sporting Editor Tribune-Dear Str. I notice in your issue of today a statement coming from Mr. F. E. Schafski in which he gets rather personal in his talk.

'I desire to say, as chairman of the Riders association, that neither Mr. Chapman nor Mr. Drawing started this organization, because they were unable to get the management of the Salt Palace track.

This association would have been started regardless of what party, or parties, had the track for the coming season, and we will still continue as an association for our own personal selfare and for the good of the sport. It is reported that certain riders in the past have been shown courtesies in the single of match races for a cash consideration, and that is one reason why we protest saginat the said Mr. Schefski, as we don't feel like giving uppart of our winnings to precure match ruces. We desire no fill feeling between Mr. Schefski and ourselves, but if Mr. Schefski continues to get personal in his remarks we will be forced, in justice to ourselves, to refute all insinuations and tell the truth which, if published, would not help his case. Sincerely yours.

HEAGREN'S SIDE OF STORY.

Makes Statement Regarding Cycling Controversy.

Sporting Editor Tribune - While I do not approve of making a fight against anyone through the daily papers, still I feel it my duty to reply to the article in this morning's issue of your paper, and defend myself against the unwarranted actack on me by F. E. Schefekl, that the risching patrons and the public generally might fully understand the matter.

When First Took Charge.

To begin with, I first took charge of the Salt Palace track in the spring of 1998, after the track had met with reverses the previous sea-sen. The riders had not, according to their sen. The riders had not, according to their statement, received proney which was supposed to be up as purses, and as a result, had put the track on the black list with the National Cycling association, under whose sanction all races were conducted. Immediately on taking the management of the track, and before I could promote any races under the N. C. A. prefection, it was necessary to settle all differences with those riders and have this black list raised.

Blue Ribbon Meet.

Blue Ribbon Meet.

I called a meeting of the riders, settled with them by giving them my personal check, and commenced what proved to be a prosperous sesson. Just prior to its close, Iver Lawson, who had just won the world's championship in London, stopped ever here, and previous to his arrival a Blue Ribbon meet was given in his honor, the proceeds to be applied on the purchase of a diamond fewel gold medal, to be presented to him by the riders here. There was 1150 derived from this meet, which was placed in the Salt Palace safe, to be held until the medal was completed. However, this money mysteriously disappeared from the safe before the medal was ready for delivery, and when it was purchased it was paid for by my personal check, for which I held a note on the Salt Palace track as security to over both checks.

During the season I had nothing whatever to do with the handling of the money, and the riders were paid their prize money by others than myself.

Had Successful Year.

Last season, 1005, I had full control of everything pertaining to the track. The owners of the track were to receive a percentage of the receipts above expenses, or, should the track fall to pay its own way, they were to stand their share of any amount necessary to keep the game going, it being left to me to endeavor to make it a successful year, and I was to do all in my ability to keep everything moving pixely. They had a bookkeeper to look after their interests, and all moneys taken in were accounted for to him, he paying the riders, and the balance placed in the bank, subject to my check for the purpose of defray-ing any other expenses which might be in-

Had Full Control of Moneys.

Had Full Control of Moneys.

All checks drawn by me reached his hands and were entered in his records, so that the owners had full knowledge of everything that I was doing, and the books were subject to their impaction at all times, and no complaint was ever registered by them to me during the season as to anything which I had done. When the racing was concluded for the year a complete settlement was effected between myself and them, so that at the present time I am not owing the amount charged by Mr. Schefold, see did I ever owe them that amount not any other sim whatever, as the final satisfement was satisfactory to all concerned. If Mr. Schefold well indoubtedly find that the proper and lawful method of collecting bills placed to his hands would be to notify the debtor by scaled letter, and not by advertising the fact in a newspaper, and I resent any imputation on his part that I owe this or any other amount: also take exceptions to the publicity which he deemed necessary to give it. The sentences have been materially ameliorated by the Emperor's amnesty decree of November last.

The frowning stronghold, the casements of which since the reign of Catherine II, when the authors, Radischeff and Novikoff, were imprisoned for their liberal ideas, have always harbored political prisoners, and within which most of the executions of the terrorists of late years have occurred is now empty and the keepers have been disbanded. THOUSANDS PASS COFFIN OF A KING

Sorrowing Denmark Gathers to Pay Last Tribute to Dead Sovereign.

JEWELED CROWN OF DENMARK ON THE BIER

Workmen Follow With Bowed Heads the Funeral Cortege Through City.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 14-in contrast with the extreme simplicity of the death chamber at the Amelienborg palace, the pody of King Christian lies in state tonight in the Slotskirke, surrounded by the mpressive majesty befitting a King. On the casket is a helmet of a dashing cavalry officer, souvenir of a youthful soldier, but the royal insignia, the crown and scepter and the purple robe, outward symbols of monarchy. Again in contrast with the family group which had hitherto gathered in the Gar-tenshnal, was a never-coasing stream of black-garbed crowds, waiting in line for more than a mile autside the church, rep-resenting all classes of Denmark, passing the coffin to pay the last tribute to the dend Sovereign.

Crown at Coffin Head.

The coffin lies on a white catafaique at the head of which, turned toward the crape-hung altar, reposes the crown of Denmark, the jewels of which are en-twined with a magnificent spray of pink maria charts years. A number martis twined with a magnificent spray of pink magna charta roses. A purple mantle embroidered with crowns and edged with ermine forms a pall sweeping to the ground, but drawn back to show the white cross of Danneborg and the National flag covering the coffin. At the foot of the coffin are the sword of state and the scepter, crossed and surrounded tier on tier by some half-hundred silver wreaths on a white satin tabouret. Facing the coffin head stand seven high navel and military officers in full uniform with black wands, and six others with halberds hung with crepe guard the dead Monarch on either side. Adjutant on Stand.

Adjutant on Stand.

At the base of the platform stands one of the King's personal adjutants, with the great silver llons, comprising the arms of Denmark, representing the sound and the great and little belts which have been used at anointments and funerals of Danish Kings since 1670.

Almost the entire foreground of the chapel is carpeted with wreaths and floral trophies and the walls are lined with paims and other tributes which are said to number two thousand.

At each corner of the catafalque massive silver candelabra throw a yellow light, which is reflected from the diamonds of the insignia.

The removal of the body from the Amellenborg palace at 6 o'clock this morning was guarded with the utmost secrecy, the late King's wish having been to avoid all ceremony. Even the sentries outside the palace were as ignorant concerning the arrangements as the patient knot of people who had waited throughout the bitter cold night to catch the first gilmpse of the coffin of their King.

Quiet Funeral Procession.

Quiet Funeral Procession.

As the clock rang out the hour from the Crown Prince's palace the old wooden gates of Amelienborg palace swing on their hinges and the guards, with blue tunics and white sword belts and shakos turned out and stood at present while the hearse drawn by two horses with coal black trappings, passed through and crossed the square, followed by Princess and Prince Waldemar and Crown Prince Christian and their suites, all on foot.

The progress through the dimly lighted street of the sleeping city was one of the most touching circiumstances attending Ring Christian's death. The procession chose the less frequented routes, and passed down narrow streets, but these were swelled by workmen, who were on their way to their daily toil, but who turned aside with their bags of tools and, bareheaded, followed until the Christian-Quiet Funeral Procession

UNCLE SAM RUSHING AMMUNITION ORDERS

Frankford Arsenal Working Overtime in Anticipation of Trouble in China.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.-An order for 4,000,000 ball cartridges has been received from the ordnance department at the Frankford arsenal here. They are to be of 20-callber and of the Krag-Jorgensen type. Although no information could be obtained at the arsenal as to the reason for the large additional order for cartridges, they are intended for the troops in the Philippines, These troops use the Krag-Jorgensen rife exclusively, and it is intimated that the increased order for ammunition is in anticipation of possible trouble in China. The present daily output of cartridges at the arsenal is 170,000, and the new order will increase it 40,000 daily for the next four

BOTH FOOD AND MEDICINE.

We like best to call Scott's Emulsion a food-medicine. It is a term that aptly describes the character and action of our Emulsion. More than a medicine-more than a food, yet combining the vital prin-ciples of both. It is for this reason that Scott's Emulsion has a distinct and special value in all wasting diseases. There is nothing better to remedy the troubles of imperfect growth and delicate health in children. The action of Scott's Emulsion is just as effective in treating weakness and wasting in adults.

SIGNIFICANT UTTERANCE OF A CHINESE GENERAL

Aristocrats and Nobles Enlisting and Reconstructing the Army With Enthusiasm.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 14 -According to advices by the steamer Plelades, which arrived today, Chinese newspapers are dally devoting more and more space to foreigners, and strong anti-foreign feelspondents at Peking in noting this, state that anti-Japanese feeling is also growing in China, and considerable feeling is displayed by prominent officials because of the continued influx of Japanese into Manchuria, Mongolia, Shinkiang and Klangsi.

Cantonese literati recently spread a manifesto that the real menace of thina's integrity came from Japan and this, augmented by the reports of the recalcitrant students who have returned to Shanghai from Tokio, as well as the sentiments of politicians who detect in Japan's action in Korea the works of an extensive aggressive policy, has fanned the anti-Japanese sentiment.

feeling of Chinese national spirit came into being.

China is now demanding indemnities from Russia for riote which involve Chinese subjects and for Chinese losses consequent to the war and its effects.

Meanwhile Japanese correspondents at Peking accuse Russians with having secretly furnished arms to Mohammedans at Sinklang and in Mongolia, with a view to inciting rebellion.

A telegram to the Hochr says also that China is demanding from Russia a payment of one million taels in connection with the transfer of the Chinese Eastern railway south of Chang Chun to Japan, and formal negotiations have been commenced in this regard with M. Pokotiloff, at Peking.

It is expected all post-bellum arrangements between China and Russia will then be considered.

Projects for the reconstruction of the Chinese navy are being mooted at Peking, and the Empress-Dowager is selecting fifteen youths of noble lineage who will be sent to Europe to be instructed in naval matters. The army, too, is being reconstructed with enthusiasm. A Chu Jin (master of arts) and seven of her reintives recently enlisted as privates and this occasioned a memorial from Yuan Shi Kai, in which he commented enthusiastically over the enlistment of the literary sons of noble families, and he spoke encouragingly of the awakening of the military spirit in China.
